Business entity reports need to be filed

LINCOLN – Secretary of State John Gale issued a reminder that reports for certain Nebraska business entities need to be filed with his office.

Biennial reports of limited liability companies, annual reports of limited liability partnerships and biennial reports of nonprofit corporations were due April 1 and become delinquent June 1. Entities that fail to file their reports will be dissolved, Gale said.

To ease filing, the reports of limited liability companies and limited liability partnerships can be filed online at www.sos.ne.gov. Payments for the online filings may be made by credit card or electronic check.

Reports for nonprofit corporations cannot be filed online at this time.

The online filing capability is the result of cooperation between Gale's office and Nebraska Interactive, which manages the state's Web site.
